

uTree – OCS conversation

O = OCS

M = Me

O – Hey there! Do you need any help finding products today?

M – Yes, actually. I'm looking for something relaxing.

O – Ok! Tell me a bit about your experience with cannabis. Would you say you have some experience with cannabis products?

M – A bit, but I don't really smoke that often anymore.

O – Gotcha. You mentioned smoking – is that your preferred way to consume cannabis?

M – To be honest, not really. I prefer to vape when I can. I'm not that keen on edibles either.

O – Got it. When you say vape, do you mean vaping dried cannabis, or do you prefer concentrate?

M – Either is fine with me, although I find sometimes concentrates are too strong for me.

O – Ok, I'll keep that in mind. You mentioned that you don't enjoy a heavy experience. What do you like to feel when you consume cannabis?

M – I mostly use cannabis when I'm trying to relax, but not sleep. I like to keep my wits about me when I use it, but I get a bit anxious when I smoke too much.

O – Right on. Are there any flavour profiles you prefer? Like fruit, pine, peppery or citrus?

M – I'm not too picky but I did have some excellent stuff a while ago that had a great peppery flavour.

O – Sounds good! Based on everything you've told me I'd recommend these four products. I've suggested two dry flower products as well as two concentrate vape cartridges. The dry flower products are both 50/50 sativa/indica hybrids, so they should give you that balance you are looking for, and they are both of a moderate THC level. The concentrates I suggest are both 50/50 THC to CBD, so they may fit the bill in terms of that calming effect without anxiety. If you don't have a vape battery or rolling papers for the weekend, here are a few great options as well.